DETAILED ACTION

This application is a 371 of PCT/EP05/50899.

The preliminary amendment filed on August 30, 2006, amending claims 1, 4-7, 916, 19, 21-31, and 37 and canceling claim 8, has been entered.

Claims 1-7 and 9-37 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-7, 9-30, and 37, drawn to an AGT mutant and a fusion protein comprising said AGT mutant.

Group II, claim(s) 31-36, drawn to a method for detecting and/or manipulating a protein of interest with a fusion protein comprising an AGT mutant and a protein of interest.

The inventions listed as Groups I-II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The technical feature linking Groups I-II appears to be that they all relate to an AGT mutant having the properties recited in claim 1.

Art Unit: 1652

However, Mijal et al. (Chem. Res. Toxicol. 2004, 17, 424-434 – form PTO-892) discloses an AGT mutant having 1 amino acid substitution (P140K) and has reduced DNA interaction and reduced reactivity against DNA-based substrates (O⁶-bzG) (page 428, right column and page 429 left column).

Therefore, the technical feature linking the inventions of Groups I-II does not constitute a special technical feature as defined by PCT Rule 13.2, as it does not define a contribution over the prior art.

The special technical feature of Group I is an AGT mutant and a fusion protein comprising said AGT mutant.

The special technical feature of Group II is a method for detecting and/or manipulating a protein of interest with a fusion protein comprising an AGT mutant and a protein of interest.

Accordingly, Groups I-II are not so linked by the same or a corresponding special technical feature as to form a single general inventive concept.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

AGT mutants having the properties recited in claims 1-7 and having the amino acid mutations recited in claims 9-30. Applicants are required to elect a specific AGT mutant having specific amino acid mutation(s) and its corresponding properties.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Claims 1-7 are drawn to AGT mutants having different properties.
Claims 9-30 are drawn to AGT mutants having different amino acid substitutions.

The following claim(s) are generic: 1-7 and 9-30.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: each of the species have different structure and function, such as substrate specificity.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
